

Sienyono Donkor Katoo, Banda-Ahenkro¹

Sienyono Donkor Katoo is a sub-house of the Kafɔnɔ Katoo. They have the same history as that of the Kafɔnɔ Katoo. Sienyono Donkor Katoo emerged as a separate house because the family was large and the man Sienyono Donkor, a brother to Pɛmbɔ Amo, decided to go and put up his own house. Because the house was remote, it came to be recognized as separate over time. This does not, however, cut off their ties to the main house and all rites are conducted in common with Kafɔnɔ Katoo. Sienyono Donkor lived during the time that the Nafanas were mining gold.
